Individual parcels fermented, some with wild yeast, then taken through malolactic fermentation (mlf) and extended lees contact before 12 months in new and used French oak. A well-balanced wine, reflecting the careful vinification, stone fruit, grapefruit and fig all to be found working synergistically with nutty/creamy mlf influences Drink to: 2020 ★

Good colour; an opulent, medium to full bodied wine a wash with black fruits, spices, fruitcake and well integrated oak; the tannins, too, play a positive role in a wine with a long future. Drink to: 2032 ★
